We only engage with suppliers who show integrity by respecting human and employment rights, share our commitment to diversity, suit the law, have a robust environmental policy, and follow health and safety regulations.

Our Culture & Workspace

We've built a business that's centered around its people and where the customer is always the center of attention. We are pleased with our distinctive culture. We don't just mention our culture and values - they're lived throughout our business every day, which enables instant feedback, recognition, and reward for living the values, inspiring behaviour, or just doing the proper thing.

We follow agile ceremonies and methodologies and subscribe to the "Shift Left" and "Continuous Testing" approaches which suggest that testing is introduced at the beginning of the software delivery process and can continue throughout the delivery pipeline.
